

“Dr. McKinney has produced a masterpiece resource manual on the solid foundation of Christian education across worship lines. This is a compelling work that captures the spiritual intellect and nourishes the hungry soul.”

—Rev. Dr. Cecil L. Murray, senior minister,
First African Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, California

“Thoroughly researched, passionately argued, and logically written, this is a powerful volume for the twenty-first century church.”

—Rev. Dr. Carolyn Ann Knight, professor,
Interdenominational Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia

“It is clear, practical, ambitious, no-nonsense, high-standards education ...McKinney has done her homework, out of which she draws the best ideas and guidelines, describing how they can and should be put to work in the local church setting.”

—Donald E. Keeney, The Clergy Journal

Lora-Ellen McKinney provides both theoretical and practical guidance in virtually all areas of Christian education in the African American context, including:

- Learning styles of young children, pre-teens, teens, and adults
 - Teaching individuals with special needs
 - Building a successful African-centered Christian education program
- Tips and recommended resources appear throughout.

LORA-ELLEN MCKINNEY lives and works in Seattle, Washington, and continues to serve as a deacon at Metropolitan Baptist Church in Washington, D.C. She holds a PhD from the University of Washington and a master's in public administration from Harvard University. McKinney is the author of Total Praise! An Orientation to Black Baptist Belief and Worship (2003), View From the Pew: What Preachers Can Learn From Church Members (2004), and Getting to Amen: 8 Strategies for Managing Conflict in the African American Church (2005), all from Judson Press.
